ARTICLE XIII
Relationships Between Faculty Senate and Certain College Standing Committees

- A. Curriculum Committee: The committee is a standing committee of the college.

*All voting members of the Curriculum Committee must be teaching faculty. Each Spring the three academic teaching Divisions will select three faculty to represent them as voting members of the College Curriculum Committee; the Distance Education and Instructional Technology Division will provide one ex officio representative. The method of selection will be at the discretion of the individual Divisions. Voting membership will be for no more than three years with exceptions noted. It is suggested that the Divisions initially should appoint their representatives to three different terms of duty (1, 2, and 3 year appointments). Thereafter all terms are for three years. Divisions should consider rotating representatives among its disciplines. Voting membership shall begin at the beginning of the Fall semester each year. (*This paragraph is copied from the Curriculum Committee Handbook.)

- B. Promotion and Tenure Committee: This committee shall consist of seven tenured faculty members. When a department does not have a tenured faculty member, the department shall have the option to submit the name of a tenured faculty member from any division. The Faculty Senate's role in the determination of the composition of the committee is as follows: Each academic department will submit to the President of the Faculty Senate the name of a tenured faculty member to serve in the pool for the selection of the seven-member committee. This person must hold tenure at the College, should be elected by the department and cannot be a candidate nor related to a candidate for promotion and/or tenure during that year. No department head or division dean is eligible for membership on this committee. At a regular session of the Faculty Senate, the President of the Faculty Senate will determine by random selection from the pool submitted by the departments, the names of seven voting members and three alternates to serve as the Promotion and Tenure Committee. Each of the academic divisions will have a minimum of one representative and one alternate. Before an open meeting of the Senate, the pool of names will, therefore, be divided by the Vice-President into three categories with each consisting of the names of its departmental representatives. The President of the Faculty Senate will first draw one name from each category to ensure there is one representative per academic division. Second, one drawing from each category will determine the alternates selected. Finally, the President will draw four additional names from the remainder to complete the committee of seven voting members. The President of the Senate will submit the names to the Provost for certification and notification of the membership of the Promotion and Tenure Committee. It is understood that the Senate may recommend candidates for membership by random selection in a drawing with the provision that the President of the College selects from the faculty to achieve balance. Immediate notification of change in the composition of the Committee should be given to the Senate in writing.
- C. Readmission Appeals Committee: This committee is a standing committee of the college. This committee shall consist of six faculty members, one staff member, and one representative of the Provost.

ARTICLE XIV Amendments

In order for the Constitution to be amended, a proposal signed by fifteen (15) full-time members of the faculty must be submitted to the Senate. If a majority of the Senate approves, the proposal will be circulated to the membership of the faculty for a vote. The proposal must be approved by two-thirds of the faculty voting with final concurrence by the President of the College.

ARTICLE XV Ratification

Upon approval of a simple majority of those individuals herein described as members of the faculty, this Constitution will be ratified and the faculty of Southwest Tennessee Community College will be officially formed.
